

Artisan village planned for Minden area

The first phase of an artisan village that could eventually become Haliburton County's biggest tourist attraction may be a reality by next summer, if plans unveiled last week are fulfilled. An outline of the project, to be called Haliburton Artisan Village (HAV), was presented by project organizer Bob Ryan at a meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council last Wednesday.

Plans call for the establishment of the village on a five acre site between Minden Hill and Highway 35. The site chosen has a potential to be expanded to 25 acres, Ryan said.

Initial plans call for the construction of approximately 60 pre-fab booths, each 8x16 feet, which will be arranged in a circle, open at one end. In these booth Canadian artisans will be able to show their goods, and sell them to the public. The brief Ryan presented last Wednesday says "a search is now being conducted to find as many artist recruits as possible. All regions in Ontario and parts of Quebec qualify, with priority given to local craftsmen". Approximately 60 craftsmen are expected to be chosen for the village's initial year of operation.

Permanent washroom facilities are expected to be built on the site for the first year. A Canadiana store is also planned for the first year, and will be located in the centre of the circle formed by the pre-fab artisan booths. A stage is also proposed for the performing arts. HAV will donate the land for the purpose, and will handle advertising for the theatre groups, Ryan's brief says. A fast food service building to be leased to a concessionaire, and a beer garden serving Canadian food and cheeses are also included in the plans.

Capital costs to get the first phase of the village in operation are estimated to be $45,950. Over the 15 week period the village plans to be open, Ryan's brief shows an estimated income of $126,750. The money will come from admission charges, stall rental charges, and a percentage of sales paid to the village by exhibiting artisans.

The Haliburton Artisan Village will be a public corporation, with shares available for purchase by local citizens. Ryan told council that a number of government grants will be available to meet initial capital costs of the venture.

HAV expects that the artisans who take part will live in the area throughout the 15 week term the village will operate. The organizers intent to start a lodging service to find suitable accommodations for the artisans.

Ryan told council the project could have tremendous spin off benefits for all local merchants and service industries. The artists themselves are expected to contribute to the local economy, and the potential of the village to draw large numbers of tourists into the area would benefit all area businesses.

Ryan said 30 to 35 local people could be employed at the village in its initial stages, with an additional administrative staff of six to eight people. "Over four years that figure could easily double" Ryan said.

"As the area is expanded to include more and more artisans, we might well have relocation of artists and artisans to this village" Ryan said, developing a permanent cultural community in Minden. He termed the Haliburton Artisan Village "probably one of the most exciting projects ever seen for the arts".

Dorset fire kills four

Four people died in a fire that destroyed a house in Dorset early Saturday morning.

The one storey wood frame bungalow, owned by Carman Griffin, 34, was also occupied by Griffin's wife, Sharon Anne, 31, a daughter Lillian Geraldine, 7, and a son Stuart Ross, age 5.

The fire was discovered at 4:30 a.m. Saturday, and the home was completely engulfed in flames when members of the Dorset fire department arrived. Four bodies, believed to be those of the Griffin family, were located in the rubble once the fire was out.

The bodies were sent to the Centre for Forensic Sciences, where a post mortem was slated to be performed Tuesday.

day. Dental records will be used to confirm the identity of the victims.

Marcel Lalonde, an official of the Fire Marshall's office in Cornwall, was on the scene Monday seeking to establish the cause of the blaze. OPP say Lalonde removed some material from the rubble which will be analyzed in an effort to pinpoint a cause.

The site of the blaze, on a hill over looking the community, has been cordoned off for the investigation.

Constables Legge and Alexander from the Minden OPP are heading the investigation.

Search warrant used OPP obtains Lutterworth records

A search warrant issued to obtain Lutterworth telephone records from Bell telephone was executed Monday, according to Minden OPP constable Mike Maher.

Constable Maher is investigating alleged irregularities in long distance phone calls made on the township's credit card. The discovery of the alleged irregularities led to the resignations of Lutterworth Reeve and elected County Warden Pat Conaghan, and deputy reeve A.O. "Bert" Shingler.

A search warrant was issued last month to obtain the records from Bell telephone. Constable Maher said the procedure now is to determine which calls were made on legitimate township business, and which, if any, were made for business other than that of the township. The constable confirmed that some of the calls shown in the records obtained Monday were in fact made to liquor stores.

"The object of the investigation" Maher said, "is to determine who made the Haliburton County Board of Education has approved a 1978 budget of $4,628,531, up 7.9 percent over last year's budget. But municipal levies to raise the part of that money not covered by government grants, will be up 12.7 percent this year.

In 1977, levies brought $2,114,226 to the total $4,290,024 budget. This year, levies must supply $2,424,162, or $309,936 more than last year. The total levy increase amounts to 14.7 percent. However, a two percent overall increase in assessment across the county reduces the levy increase to the 12.7 percent figure.

Main reason for the change in the levies is that grants from the provincial government have been reduced. Though the 1978 budget is up more than $330,000, provincial grant support has fallen by 1.8 per cent, from a total of $1,939,409 in 1977 to $1,904,317 this year. Last year's effective grant rate was 38.04 percent. This year, it has fallen to 34.06 percent for Haliburton County.

The fall in provincial grant support is the result of two factors, according to Jim Leeworthy, Business Administrator for the Board. Previously, grants were based on the number of pupils enrolled in schools in September of the previous year. But under the new formula, grants are based on the projected enrolments in January, April and September of the budget year. Enrolment usually declines as the year goes on, and is lower in January than at the beginning of the school year the previous September. The continued trend of declining enrolments will result in grant reductions under the formula. Leeworthy pointed out.

The second major factor in grant support reductions is a change in the rates paid for ordinary and extraordinary expenditures by the Board. In 1977, expenditures of more than $184 per student in the secondary school system were eligible for 93.3 percent grants. In 1978 the figure has risen to $194 and the rate has fallen to 91.8 percent.

This year, the government is paying grants on the basis of what it terms "equalized mill rates". It assumes the same criteria for assessment across the province, and pays grants above a certain mill rate. Haliburton County has a large assessment, because of the abundance of cottage properties, and a small number of pupils compared to that assessment, because most of the residents are seasonal. The large assessment and small number of pupils means that very little "grant above mill rate" will come to the county.

Haliburton County's finance committee has recently submitted a brief to the provincial treasurer on the governments proposed tax reform legislation, in which the county advocates that no cottages be included in assessments for school board grant purposes.

Main increases in the 1978 budget are for salaries of teachers, transportation, and for debt charges. Salaries account for about 70 percent of the total budget, with transportation accounting for a further 13 percent.

Salary negotiations are currently underway between the board and teachers, and an increase in those salaries is allowed for in the budget. The percentage increase is not available because the negotiations are still underway.

"You could decide not to put any money in for salary increases, then negotiate by the seat of your pants and have a big deficit at the end of the year" Leeworthy said, "but that's not very realistic."

A number of cuts and changes were made before trustees passed the budget. Leeworthy said. But he noted that most of the increase in the budget could be tied to rises in the consumer price index and inflation in general. "There's really very little that's controllable" he said.

Because of assessment, the levy increases will not be felt in equal measure by all municipalities across the

DREE designation being sought by County Council

Efforts are continuing to have Haliburton County designated as an area eligible for funding under the Federal Government's Department of Regional Economic Expansion Program, generally known as DREE.

Haliburton County Council has requested that the Chamber of Commerce, through the Manpower Outreach Office in the County, compile statistics on the ratio of employed to unemployed in the county, one of the critical factors in DREE eligibility.

Victoria-Haliburton M.P. William Scott has petitioned the minister in charge of the program to consider Haliburton for inclusion in the program. A spokesman for Scott's office said Tuesday that a letter has been received from the minister in response to the MP's request, but was unable to supply details of the letter Tuesday.

DREE funding makes partially forgivable loans available to industries wanting to locate in designated areas. The loans are intended to encourage industries to locate in areas they might otherwise not consider.

Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey has said that since other, nearby areas, are eligible for DREE funding, Haliburton County has a difficult time attracting industry.

It is expected that County Council and the MP will continue to press the minister of the matter.

Passers by douse trailer fire

Quick thinking by passers by averted what could have been a major fire near Minden Sunday evening.

A trailer, owned by Gerald Cooper, located off highway 121 near Minden, was seen to be on fire by three passers by at about 7 p.m. Sunday night.

Minden teams reach Ont. finals

The Minden Bantams and Juveniles have advanced to the all Ontario Finals in their respective divisions. The Bantams eliminated Creemore in four games, and the Juveniles did away with Havelock in seven games with one being a tie.

Saturday night in Havelock the Juveniles had to settle for a tie despite the fact that they had a two goal lead after two periods. On Sunday night Minden scored early and never looked back as they went on to a 7-3 victory to move into the All Ontario Final.

This is the first time that a Juvenile team from Minden has advanced to the finals.

Search for vet ends

A search for a veterinarian that has lasted more than 15 months neared an end Monday night, when the Haliburton County Veterinary Committee voted to accept the application of Dr. J.W. Vanderwekken for the position of subsidized veterinarian in Haliburton County.

The committee will recommend to the Veterinary Services Branch of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food that Dr. Vanderwekken be appointed to the position.

Last night's meeting ended more than a year of effort by the committee, on behalf of the approximately 100 members of its parent organization, the Haliburton County Livestock Producers Association.

The committee had requested that the Ministry of Agriculture and Food designate Haliburton County as an area where assistance would be given to a veterinarian for the establishment of a large animal practice.

Under the Ministry program, a Veterinarian is given a grant of $8,000 from the government, and mileage rates are paid by the Ministry

Maple Syrup Festival a success

The say wasn't running and the weather was less than perfect, but the second annual Wilberforce Maple Syrup Festival was considered a success by the organizers nonetheless.

Attendance was up over last year for the pancake breakfast, maple syrup demonstrations, flea market, hockey tournament and dance that completed the day's activities.

A tour of a sugar bush had to be cancelled because of unsuitable snow conditions.

Bud Kirshner, president of the Haliburton County Livestock Producers Association termed the acceptance that has to come from the Ministry as a "formality". He said the Association will not attempt to dictate where the new vet should set up his practice, so long as the location he chooses is central in the area his practice will cover.

Damage totals $1300 in vehicle mishaps

A theft of goods valued at $2,232.90 from a cottage in the Harcourt area was discovered Saturday, Minden OPP report.

Thieves gained entry to the cottage, owned by Samuel E. Masson of Thornhill, by forcing a door and a window. The theft occurred sometime between January 1 and last Saturday, when it was discovered.

Stolen were fishing equipment, water ski gear, scuba tanks, regulators, masks and gauges.

Damage to the cottage was estimated at $30. The incident remains under investigation by P/C Solway.

Logging was a hard life, but a good one

There aren't many people today who could get up at 4:30 in the morning and work through until six at night. And there are even fewer people who could do it without complaining. But not so long ago, it was common practice in the Haliburton area for men to work those kind of hours. They were loggers, and the work they did was just about the only work there was to do in this area. So they didn't complain. In fact, as those who have done it will tell you, they enjoyed the work.

Wes Baker of Haliburton, who is a spry and active 80, with a memory as sharp as a tack, can recall those days vividly. He came home from the First World War in 1919, and in the fall of 1920, he went to the woods for the first time. Every fall for the next 35 years, he went back to the woods again.

Mr. Baker was a teamster, and his love of horses has never diminished. But by the 1950's, horses had disappeared in the logging industry, replaced by heavy machinery. Mr. Baker, and others like him, were left with memories of sleds piled high with logs, and horses straining to pull them along slick iced roads. Gone was the camaraderie of the camps and the hardy fare of the camp cook. Yet those days linger in the minds of Haliburton men who worked through the long winters, and glimpses of them remain in the sepia-toned photographs some of them keep.

There were a number of camps around Haliburton throughout the twenties and thirties, but the routine of the camps and the work that was done from them was the same, no matter what the name of the company.

Work began in September, when the cutting gangs would take to the woods. At an average camp, 35 to 40 men would cut, in gangs of three or four. One man would notch the tree, and the other two would cut it down with a two man cross cut saw. Some crews had a limber as well, to chop off the branches of the fallen tree, but most companies expected the man who notched to also do the limbing. If they were cutting hardwood, and efficient gang could fell 100 trees a day, and softwood trees would come down at the rate of 125 to 130 a day, depending on the size of the trunk.

When the logs were down and trimmed, the skidding gang pulled them to a skidway. A teamster, aided by two trail cutters, who cleared a path to the log, pulled the logs to a skidway, where they were left, 200 or 300 in a pile, to await the winter snow and freeze up.

And so the work went through to Christmas, the day's work shortening as the sun set earlier and earlier. In the years before cars, men who went to the woods in September often had to wait till Christmas for a chance to get home again, but in the 1920's, they usually got home once at least a week.

Once the snow came, the cutters would stop their work, and would be assigned to other jobs, like plowing "draw" roads, or helping to load the sleds.

Roads led from the piled lumber to the nearest lake or river, and the roads were kept constantly iced. Sleighs with ten foot "bunks" were used for hauling the logs. The loading gang consisted of one top loader and two senders. Logs were pulled from the pile up onto the sleighs by horses using blocks and lines, and the top loader built the load. When the load was built the logs were chained tightly, and a teamster would draw them to the river or lake, where they were dumped. There were usually at least three loading groups, Mr. Baker says, with four teams of horses working with each. Two horses were harnessed to each sleigh for the pull along the iced roads, but tow teams were sometimes used to help another team pull a loaded sleigh up a grade. If a grade was particularly difficult, a steam tow engine might be used at some camps.

Once they were on the lake or river, the logs were encircled by "boom sticks" chained together, and the booms were tied to a tree to await the spring thaw and a trip to the sawmill.

When they were cutting a gang would work perhaps eight hours a day, but when the hauling began the days were much longer. Teams and loading gangs were in the woods by six a.m. and they worked until sunset. Teamsters were up at 4:30 to feed their horses and harness them up. Then it was into the cook house for breakfast. "If you hadn't had your breakfast by five, you thought you'd slept in," Mr. Baker laughs.

The food was excellent. Breakfast was porridge, bacon and eggs, pancakes, fried potatoes, toast, coffee, and there were always cookies and pie on the table. "Everything was so tasty," Mr. Baker says. "I never ate off a bad cook."

Though the work in the woods was hard, there was one person in camp who worked harder. He was the chore boy. Sometimes as young as 12 or 14, but usually around 20, the chore boy was the first person up in the morning. He lit the fires in the sleeper for the rising men, and got the kitchen fires blazing. He helped the cook get breakfast, washed up the dishes, swept the sleepers, split wood around the camp. For that, in the 1920's he'd get $35 a month plus board. The cook was better paid, and might get as much as $100 a month," Mr. Baker says.

During the sleigh hauling months, it was usually "dinner in" for the crews, if they were close enough to the camp to come in for a hot meal. If not, they took their lunch with them in the morning.

Until 1925 or so, the week was six full days, but after that it ended at noon Saturday. Each loading gang did six loads, and when those loads were in, the day was done. A teamster would haul two loads a day at some camps, and three or four at others, depending on the distance from the piled logs to the water. The longest Mr. Baker worked on covered four miles, and two a day were all you could do.

Mr. Baker says people often think life in the camps must have been hard, and that the people who worked in them were just as hard, but he insists it wasn't so. The men who went to the woods were good family men, and trouble was very rare. "Everybody had a good time in the camps," Mr. Baker says, "and everybody seemed to enjoy their work."

After supper, the teamsters would go out to feed and water their horses, and bed them down for the night. In the bunkhouses the men would get out the cards or chat, until lights out time a 9 p.m. Most camps didn't allow liquor, and few men could have worked if they drank.

The pay wasn't bad in the 20's, about $45 a month plus board. But there was no unemployment insurance in those days, Mr. Baker points out, and what you saved had to tide you over until May or so, when you could get a job in the lumber mills processing the logs you had hauled all winter.

In the 1930's, when the depression made work scarce, men worked in the woods for a dollar a day plus board.

In the forties and fifties, trucks replaced horses, and the "hot" logging method of cutting a tree, hauling it and processing it, sometimes all on the same day, ended the life of the camps.

To us, used to eight hour days and five day weeks, the life Mr. Baker and hundreds of others like him led in those days seems impossibly hard, and its passing a good thing.

But, Mr. Baker thinks differently. "That was the good life at that time," he says, "when there was nothing else to do."

This picture, taken in 1929 or 1930, shows the method by which roads were "tanked" or iced to make hauling the logs easier. The tank holds 40 barrels of water, drawn from a nearby lake. On the sleigh are Wes Baker of Haliburton, and Bill Ward.

Fire protection costs reduced

Lutterworth Township will be paying less for the fire protection it receives from Anson, Hindon and Minden than that municipality's reeve thinks Lutterworth should be paying. In response to a request from Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden council voted to reduce the amount it charges for standby fire protection for the North half of Lutterworth Township from the $3,450 originally requested for 1978, to $3,000, the same rate Lutterworth was charged for fire protection last year.

But Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Reg Booth was against the move.

In a letter tabled at Anson Hindon and Minden council last Wednesday, Lutterworth council questioned the increase in rates for fire protection for the current year. Anson Hindon and Minden submitted rates to Lutterworth of $3,450 flat standby charge, which is paid whether a fire is fought or not, and fire fighting rates of $150 for the first hour and $75 for each subsequent hour that Anson Hindon and Minden firemen are at a fire scene. Last year the rates were $3,000 standby, $100 for the first hour and $40 for each subsequent hour.

Reeve Reg Booth felt the increase in standby rates could be justified because of the cost of hoses and other equipment, which continue to rise every year.

The Reeve said high rates would also be an incentive for Lutterworth to establish its own fire department. The increases were "determined after study of the costs being borne by this municipality", Booth said. "If we give it to them for nothing they'll never establish their own fire department". The reeve said council had to "guard against giving out people's money to other municipalities." Booth said the Fire Marshall's office had told Anson Hindon and Minden that the rates charged to Lutterworth were too low.

Councillor Len Lonsberry noted that "the basic rate is free money to buy hoses and so on. If you get $3,000 basic and you never fight a fire, that money helps to buy equipment".

"I don't think they (Lutterworth) can argue about increases for hourly firefighting", Cont'd, page 10

Damage totalled $1,300 in two single vehicle crashes during the past week.

Last Tuesday a 1972 pickup truck driven by Kyle H. Andrews, 17, of Bradford suffered $800 damage on County Road 7. Minden OPP say Andrews was northbound when he failed to negotiate a curve, and entered the west ditch, striking two tree stumps.

On Sunday evening, a 1975 automobile driven by Ian McFadden, 27, of Scarborough skidded on Highway 35 at the 12 Mile Lake Bridge and struck the guard rail. OPP say the vehicle was southbound at the time of the mishap.

Damage to the car was estimated to be $500. Damage to the guard rail was estimated at $100.

told Ryan the necessary approvals from the Ministry of the Environment and other government bodies could take several months, and he urges the HAV organizers to seek those approvals in order to get the village open by next summer. Gloom and doom

March is always a gloomy month. People are tired of the cold and the snow, and the greyness of the landscape seems to offer no hope of better days. But the gloom of this March is fed by more than the weather. It's a palpable gloominess, reinforced almost daily with news of the dollar's decline and growing government deficits.

Finance Minister Jean Chretien recently accused the opposition parties of bringing a "gloom and doom" attitude into the House of Commons, particularly when economic policy is the subject of debate. In Chretien's view, "gloom and doom" accomplishes little. Leaving aside that it is the duty of opposition parties in a parliamentary democracy to attack the policies of the party in power, Chretien may well have a valid point.

It is true that the economy is in poorer shape than it was a few years ago. Sometimes, it seems, the economy is in worse shape today than it was last week. But not all of the blame for that can be laid on the doorstep of the government.

Inflation, and the economic decline that usually accompanies it, are a worldwide phenomenon. Because Canada does not and cannot exist in isolation from other countries, what happens elsewhere can be felt here. It often seems that there is nothing we can do but ride the current of global economics and try to keep our heads above water.

But how much can we justify our feeling of gloom? True, our paychecks do buy less than they did a few months ago. True, the dollar's fall means rising costs for imported goods and hardships for those who want to travel abroad. True, there is much that could be changed and improved upon.

By all means, let's demand that the government follows sound economic and fiscal policy to strengthen the economy. Let's encourage the government to consider economic problems first and foremost. Let's make it known that we want changes made, and that we will settle for no less than responsible leadership.

But let's also pause amid the greyness and gloom of March to think about what we have. Let's think about our standard of living, still one of the three highest in the world despite our economic troubles. Let's think about our freedoms, and the rights we all enjoy. Let's take a break from the burden of economic reality to put ourselves in perspective.

Things aren't perfect here no doubt. But how much have we the right to expect they should be? March is a gloomy month. But there is much about Canada that ought to make us feel a whole lot better if we take the time to think things through.

Taking a chance

The proposal that would see the establishment of an artisan village near Minden that came before Anson, Hindon and Minden council last week is a hopeful sign for all of Haliburton County. But more than that, the daring that lies behind it is the kind of daring that's needed to make not only Haliburton, but the whole of Canada, a better place in the future.

Bob Ryan of Minden, who made the presentation to council on behalf of the Haliburton Artisan Village project, said as many as 60 artisans could be at the village for its first 15 week season next summer. The project would be unique to this area, and could prove to be a significant factor in boosting tourism. Its benefits would be felt not only within the village itself, but in Minden and in the county at large.

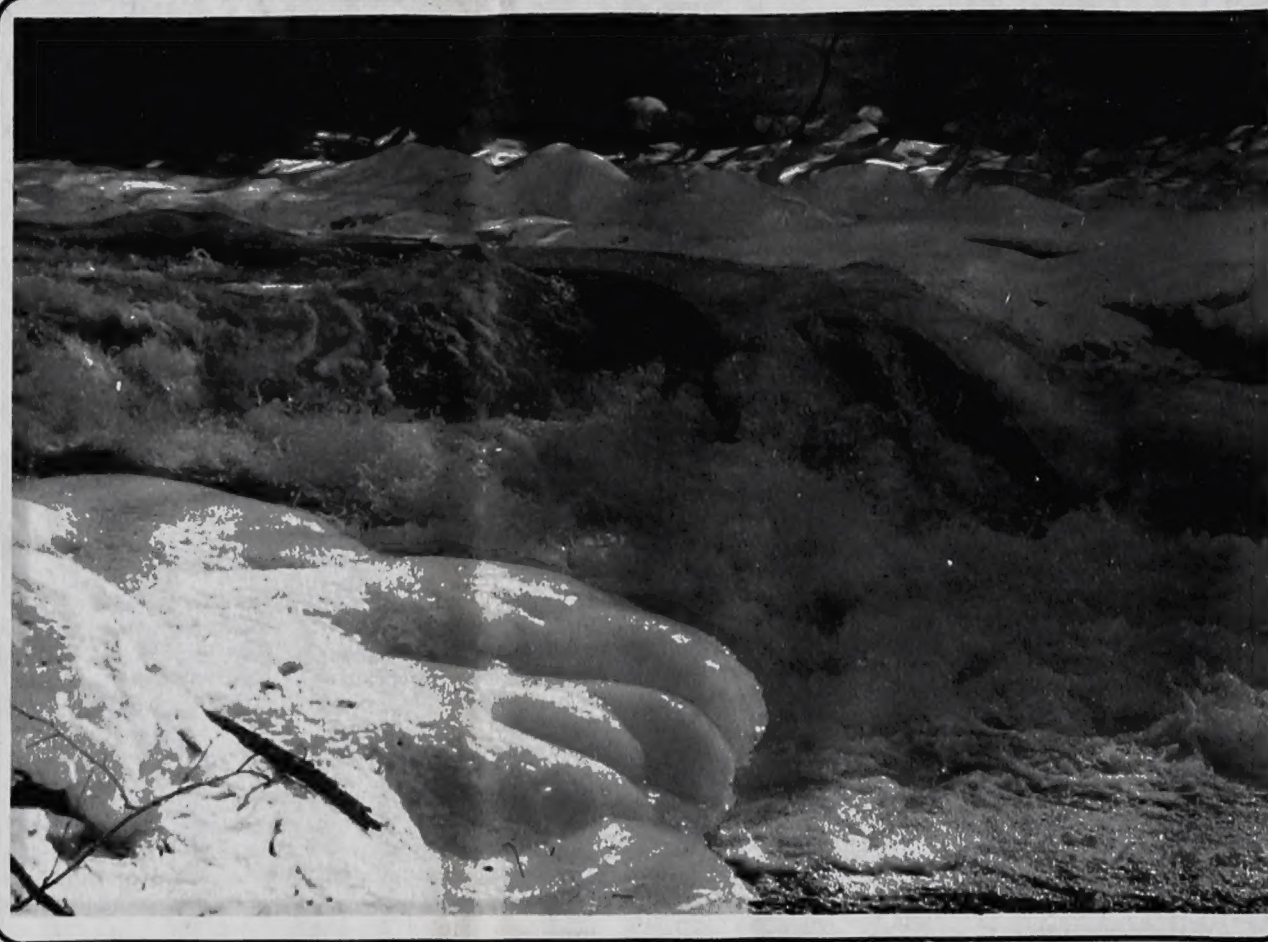

For the first two years, temporary stalls would be set up on a five acre site near Minden in which artisans would work and sell what they produce. If it proves successful the village could become more permanent, growing in size and bringing much needed new revenue into the county.

The project is no more than an idea at the moment, though the idea was quick to arouse the interest of Anson, Hindon and Minden council, which pledged support for the project in principal. But the idea itself, and the presentation that sets it down is proof that some people are still willing to take a chance.

Canadians are often accused of being too cautious. We don't get out and come up with new ideas and work to make them a reality, because of the constant fear of failure.

The Haliburton Artisan Village project may not develop precisely as those who are planning it hope it will. They have studied the market for the goods it would produce, and they are convinced that people from far and near will support it. There is still some risk involved but the organizers feel it's a gamble worth taking.

They are to be congratulated for taking a chance. If more of us had the initiative and the daring to come up with sound ideas and work to make them a reality, not only Haliburton, but the whole of Canada would be a better place in which to live.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It appears that a few over-zealous enlightened intellectuals in the community are taking this Sunday night theatre thing rather too seriously.

Unless I have been seriously misled, it appears that one of the main planks in the platform of a democratic society is the right of the individual to decide for himself what he wants to read, see, or hear.

Taking that thought one step further and applying it in this situation, to me it boils down to simply this: if one doesn't like what is playing at the local theatre, one doesn't have to go.

To the Editor:

Television has certainly changed the pattern of Canadian voters. Instead of demanding good government, we vote for "charisma". Then, when we do get "charisma", we wonder whatever happened to good government.

There is much more required to run this diversified country than a good "stage show", and pie in the sky.

We used to vote for "good government" and our country prospered.

Now we vote for charisma!

To the Editor:

As winter draws to a close, the Ontario Society for Crippled Children wants to express its very sincere appreciation to the participants and sponsors in the 20 Snowarama events held across Ontario this year.

Snowarama brings together snowmobilers, members of service clubs, police, snow machine and equipment manufacturers and distributors, the media and the general public in an enormous community effort on behalf of physically handicapped children. St. John's Ambulance and C.B. operators were also very helpful.

Many thousands of men, women and young people made our 20 Snowaramas a huge success - more than $480,000 was pledged across Ontario.

We owe a special vote of thanks to Whipper Watson who has spearheaded Snowarama and many other activities of the Society. Many people apparently do not realize that Whipper serves crippled children on a purely volunteer basis and receives no compensation of any kind for all his efforts. He gets no salary, commission or expenses. In fact, he pays all his personal costs from his own pocket.

Whipper seeks no other reward than that crippled children receive the help they need, and he would be the first to give credit for the success of Snowarama to other groups and individuals.

Yours truly,
A.R. McIntosh

There's nothing quite as humbling as listening to a man who's lived 80 years. It makes you realize both what we have, and what we've lost.

There are two things I'm especially fond of, history, from a human point of view, and writing feature stories. When I can put the two together, it gives me a great sense of satisfaction. This week, I was lucky enough to be able to put the two together in a story about logging in the 20's and 30's in the Haliburton area.

Wesley Baker, of Haliburton, who supplied me with the information and the pictures that accompany the story, is a remarkable man, and I can't resist using this space to say something about him.

Mr. Baker, whose memories of earlier days are vivid, is a perfect man to interview. He takes you through the facts step by step, and he knows how to tell a good story. But the thing that struck me most about Mr. Baker is that he is a link with a way of life that is gone. I said he is remarkable, and to me he is, but he is also one of hundreds and thousands who have lived the same things, more or less, and whom many of us never have the chance to appreciate.

Mr. Baker fought in the first world war, and came home unscathed. Work was scarce in those days, or at least the choices you had were limited. So in 1920, he went off to the woods for the first of 35 winters to come.

The work wasn't easy. The days were long, and the pay was only fair. But Mr. Baker, and the hundreds of others who worked with him, or in similar camps throughout Haliburton County, didn't complain. You had to have money to live, and the logging business was a way to earn it, so you went out and did it. There wasn't much money for luxuries in those days, and there wasn't any unemployment insurance to keep you if you sat at home.

For fun, when the weekends came, you'd hitch up your team to a cutter and glide over to a dance in West Guilford or Carnarvon, and sometimes you'd get in just in time to get ready for work again.

It was a hard life, to be sure, but there are few people who lived it who wouldn't say that it was also a good life.

I couldn't help thinking, as I listened to Mr. Baker, how much we've lost. Who would get up at 4:30 a.m. and work till dark without a complaint today. How many young people can imagine what it was like to struggle as Mr. Baker and others of his generation struggled?

I wouldn't advocate that we should all abandon what we have and labour long and hard. But a little of the determination and the good natured acceptance of those men who logged would go a long way today.

They worked for their pay, and they spent it prudently, and they built a life for themselves. They were proud of what they did, and they did it well.

I hope what they did is remembered when they're no longer here to tell it to us.

We were talking to a local businessman in Haliburton last week and he told us that he is right behind the re-development programme now being proposed for the downtown area of Haliburton. It was his opinion that the local merchants should start looking around their own areas of business first and start by cleaning up the garbage in their back yards and sweeping the area in front of their stores. On a tour of the main street he noted that it seems that some of the store windows haven't been cleaned for months and that most of the window displays leave a great deal to be desired. One business establishment that always has a very attractive window display is Varty's Jewellery & Gifts and the next time you pass this store just take a look and you will agree that the window displays here are so nice that it certainly makes one want to go in and buy. It was also pointed out to us that the town washrooms next to the post office need a major job done on it and new equipment installed that would stop all of this vandalism that now forces the washrooms to be closed most of the time. In other words before we get at the big job it's the little things that count. It certainly gives us some food for thought.

The Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts is planning to print a brochure to promote the artists and crafts people in this area. This leaflet will contain the artist's name and craft, as well as a local map showing his location. Tourists will receive copies of this brochure at the Chamber of Commerce office, lodges, Tourist information booths, Summer Exhibition and Sale and the Summer Theatre. If you are a Guild member and produce (within your own studio) quality items for sale, you may be included in this publication.

At a recent meeting of the Haliburton County Social Planning Council there was a discussion about chronic care, Extendercare and general health problems, and in this connection Marlene Edwards, with the Health Unit (Home Care) in Lindsay, visited the meeting and after an enlightening talk, pointed out that we were not very well represented in the Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge directory. The Social Planning Council have written a letter asking for an explanation for this oversight.

During the past few weeks people have been asking the question are home smoke detectors a hazard? This week we were talking to a friend of ours who works for a fire department in Metro Toronto and he furnished us with some information from the Quarterly News publication. While conducting a Regional Fire Prevention School in the Town of Perth for fire departments in the County of Lanark, concern was expressed by the fire fighters about the conflicting reports as to the radiation hazard of home smoke detectors. One fire fighter student with the Perth Fire Department, Mr. C. Gaudaur, is a teacher of advanced science at Algonquin College of Applied Arts and Technology in Perth and licenced by the Atomic Energy Control Board to use radio-isotopes for teaching and demonstrating. Another student, Fire Chief H. E. Jordan, of the townships of Bathurst, Burgess, Drummond and North Elmsley Fire Department, had a supply of smoke detectors that members of his department were selling. It was therefore decided that they would conduct their own tests on the available detectors. The smoke detectors tested were as follows. (1) Pyrene model SS74R. (2) Westlock model POC76B. (3) Pyrene model F2XB. (4) Guardian model FB1. After testing the conclusion was that there appears to be very little chance of any radiation danger from the smoke detectors tested. From the information we have received the only radiation hazard seems to be in the area of six inches from the smoke detector itself. Its clear from there on down. I just installed one in my home this week and I think that anyone is foolish not to have one.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton held their first Easter Seal Campaign in 1948 and this is when they became associated with the Crippled Children's work. In 1948 campaign donations came to a total of $622.00 and in 1977 it was $1,336.00. This year's Easter Seal campaign is drawing to a close and the objective is $1,500.00. The club last year fell a little short of meeting their objective and let's make sure that this doesn't happen this year. If you have not already sent in your donation please do so right away. Just drop it into the pink envelope and sent it back to the Rotary Club. The number of active cases in the Haliburton area is 6 and in the County 10.

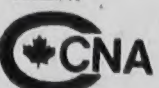

Here is some food for thought.
Begin the day with friendliness.
Keep friendly all day long.
Keep in your soul a friendly thought,
In your heart a friendly song.
Have in your mind a word of cheer
For all who come your way,
And they will greet you too, in turn,
And wish you a happy day.

Inheritance, a musical group representing the Barry Moore Crusaders, has recently completed a three month tour of Western Canada and are just now returning from Eastern Canada. The Inheritance Group will give a concert (to-night) Wednesday, March 29 at 7.30 p.m. at the Minden Gospel Church in Minden and on Thursday, arch 30th will be appearing at St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton at 7.30 p.m. Don't miss hearing this wonderful musical group.

Last week with the March break on it was hard to find too many people left in the area. They all took advantage of this break to go on holidays. It was also encouraging to see so many visitors back for the holidays in the Highlands.

Seven months without CKVR

CKVR Television Channel 3 in Barrie says work on their new 1,000 foot transmission tower has been completed and the station will be returning to full power Friday March 31.

This day will mark the end of a seven month ordeal that began on September 7, 1977 when a light aircraft struck and destroyed the original 1,000 foot tower.

Since then CKVR has been transmitting from a temporary 400 foot tower, resulting in a decreased coverage area. However, with the completion of the new tower and resumption of full power CKVR will again be reaching their normal coverage area.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

The Ontario Legislature has adjourned for the Spring Break. One of the last development before adjournment was the debate and third reading of the controversial Bill 59 - "An Act to Reform the Law respecting Property Rights and Support Obligations between married persons and in other Family Relationships". This legislation, known as the Family Law Reform Act, will go into effect on March 31st, 1978. In terms of social reform, it is considered to be one of the most significant pieces of legislation to be passed in Ontario in the last fifty years.

The family law reform legislation was designed to update the traditional legal concepts governing matrimonial property and support obligations, to accommodate the various forms of modern family life. It recognizes marriage as a partnership between two people - no matter who works where and who actually brings home the paycheck. "Work" is defined broadly to include not only work for which one is paid, but also the work of the homemaker, the management of the household and care of the children - for which the wife is not usually paid, but which is essential to traditional family life.

This legislation covers a broad range of property and support rights for married and separated people, as well as those living in common-law relationships. The most significant change affects the area of marriage break-down. The Act proposes that the family assets system be the basic system governing property relations between husband and wife in Ontario. Under this system "family assets" include property owned by one or both spouses which is used by the family for shelter or transportation, or for household, educational, recreational, social or aesthetic purposes. Family assets are owned separately during the marriage. Where there is no marriage break-down, each spouse remains free to acquire, manage and dispose of property as he/she does under the present law, except in the case of the matrimonial home, where special provisions apply. Both spouses are given rights in the matrimonial home: either has the right to seek a court order for possession of the matrimonial home and contents; neither spouse can sell or mortgage the home without the other's written consent, regardless of which of them owns it.

The new law applies only upon marriage break-down, and only in the absence of a marriage contract. Under the legislation the woman is considered to be an equal partner in the marriage relationship and the "family assets" which include the home, furniture, cottage, boat, car, appliances, etc. are subject to the rule of equal division. This is, of course, subject to judicial discretion; in other words, unless the judge decides it should be otherwise.

Under the new law a woman can go to court and demand a share of other assets - such as business profits, bonds, stocks, investments, commercial property, trust funds or pensions. Court decisions would be based upon the circumstances of the case, whether the woman had contributed to the financial success of her husband, or in the event the family assets were not considered adequate to give her a fair share. The key words here are "contribution to the marriage", as a wife will not necessarily be awarded a share of business and other assets.

The Bill recognizes common-law relationships, providing for a couple who have lived together for a period of five years, including the year preceding the relationship's break-down, (or where a child or children have resulted from the union), to have responsibility for the support of one another and any children of the relationship. In common-law situations, the rule of equal division of assets does not apply.

Child care becomes the "joint responsibility" of both partners. Parents with illegitimate, foster, or step children living under their roof will be responsible for their support until they become 18 years of age. The new law recognizes marriage contracts, unless a judge rules that the contract is unfair to one of the partners. Finally, support payments will no longer be allowed to be continued for an indefinite period, and it will be incumbent upon the spouse to support a dependent wife or husband only until he or she can find suitable employment.

One of my favorite indoor sports is leafing through travel brochures, and I've been indulging myself lately, while planning a jaunt to Europe this summer.

I revel in the colorful descriptions of exotic and romantic places, even though I know they are generally a lot of hogwash. It is common knowledge that Venice stinks like an open sewer, but I still want to have a gander at the Doge's Palace and the Bridge of Sighs.

I am perfectly aware that being a Canadian tourist in Paris is like being an open safe in a houseful of burglars. But that doesn't stop me from wanting to visit Notre Dame and have a dekho at the great bells where the Hunchback thereof swung so merrily.

I'm pretty sure that I won't be having an audience with the Pope, but I'd still like to stand in the Sistine Chapel in Rome, gawking at Michelangelo's magnificent ceiling with all the other tourists.

I'd love to ride down the Rhine guzzling pilsener and looking at castles, with one eye peeled in case we spotted Die Lorelei sitting on a rock in the middle of that polluted stream.

I'd delight in a real Hungarian goulash, Bavarian sauerbraten, Italian pasta, or even an honest Swiss steak.

It would be great to drop in on old prison camp friends like Nils Jorgenson in Oslo, Milan Karic in Dubrovnik, Jean Morai in Liege, Belgium, Rostislav Kandusky in Morava, Czechoslovakia. Even though I know they would no longer be dashing young fighter pilots, but pot-bellied burgers heading toward senior citizenship.

In fact, I could happily take off every summer and spend six weeks or more kicking around Great Britain and Europe, looking up old acquaintances, making new friends, and devouring scenery and history.

There are only two things that stop me from doing this. One is money. The other is my wife. There's not enough of the first item. And it almost takes dynamite to get the second item travelling.

Looking at prices, I am shaken fairly rigid by the way they have shot up in the five years since we last went abroad. Hotel prices in London have zoomed by 50 per cent or more, to make that city, one a real bargain, one of the more expensive places to visit.

For example, by taking advantage of a "special discount" connected with our tour, we are able to stay for one night at the Penta Hotel for a mere $56.00. Regular rate is $62.00. Last time we were over, we stayed at a middle-class hotel, with bed and breakfast for $32.00. And while the Penta is a new hotel, and no doubt very smart, it is far from being one of the great hotels of London. At that rate of increase, a double room at the Dorchester or the Savoy would now set one back about $150.00.

Probably the answer is simply London's popularity. Although many new hotels have been built in the last decade, there is still an enormous demand for rooms, with hundreds of thousands of North Americans, Europeans and Asians pouring into the fabulous old town every summer, mouths open, wallets bulging, and cameras clicking.

Nor does it help that the pound has got back some stability, while the Canadian dollar has sunk to Depression levels.

A colleague who was over there last summer suggested, "Take as much money as you think you'll need, then double it. They'll take you a buck for a cup of coffee."

When I was young and in my prime, as they say, the British pound was the soundest security in the world. A pound was worth about five dollars. Today, the pound is one of the least envied and most unstable units of currency in the western world. It used to be an evening on the town, albeit not a wild one, but a couple of drinks, a show and something to eat. Now it's an average-sized tip after a meal. That's what happens when you win a couple of wars and lose an empire.

But it isn't the money that bothers me about making a trip. It's the Old Lady. First of all, she can pack so much stuff into a suitcase that it takes an adult male gorilla to lift the thing. That's why I came home from our last trip with my arms stretched to down around my knees.

Second of all, she is somewhat of an insomniac. Hot milk, nightcap, sleeping pills, you name it and her system shrugs it off as you or I would a lifesaver. That's at home.

Imagine what she's like when we're on the move constantly, sleeping in strange beds every night, eating strange food, getting excited at new sights and sounds and people. She knocks off one or two hours a night and the rest of the time is an advanced case of somnambulism.

Why am I so selfish then, you may well ask. Why do I drag her off to foreign fields, where she'll be lucky if she sits down on the edge of a fountain and people don't think she's a statue?

Because she won't let me go alone. Many a time I've offered, "Why don't you just stay home, dear, and have a nice, quiet time around the house? I'll send you a card every day, and I'll be back in only six weeks, before you know it."

She doesn't trust me, even when I tell her it's the ladies, not the men, who get pinched in Rome.

So that's why I'm saving quarters in the cookie jar and refurbishing my once-fluent French, German and Italian. "Arrivederci, Mademoiselle, was maken sie hier? Nix offnen der tor bevor der zug halte. Avez-vous des bluejins? Mein epouse nich schlafen prima."

Expect there'll be no problems when you can handle the lingo like that.

PARTICIPATION

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott, M.P.

INDUSTRY-PLASTICS-SUGGESTION INDUSTRY BE EXEMPTED FROM TARIFF CUTS

Mr. W. C. Scott [Victoria-Haliburton]: Mr. Speaker, on December 8 last I asked a question of the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce (Mr. Horner) concerning the GATT negotiations that are currently in progress in Geneva, Switzerland. Specifically, I asked the minister if he would seek an exemption for Canada's plastics industry from the general reduction in tariffs being sought by some GATT member countries.

The minister replied that Canada hopes to deal on a sector basis with non-ferrous metals at the meetings, and he said that that might well include plastics. Obviously, Mr. Speaker, the minister's answer was not good enough. Given the delicate balance in our plastics industry and the fact that time is running out on the GATT talks, we can only trust that it is not too late for the government to make a more positive effort in this area.

The inclusion by the minister of the words "hope" and "might" in his reply only reinforces the fears in our plastics industry that the government is not pressing their case forcefully enough in Geneva. Their fears are well founded, Mr. Speaker. If certain GATT member countries get their way and the tariffs on manufactured plastic products are removed or even reduced by as much as 25 per cent, the Canadian plastics industry will be forced out of both the international and domestic markets. Not only will they become non-competitive in the world marketplace for plastic products, but countries like the United States will be able to sell their products in Canada at a cheaper price than we would be able to produce the same articles.

It must be remembered that Canada imports more manufactured plastic products per capita than any other country in the world. We import more than the United States, which has ten times our population. We are trying to overcome that imbalance in plastics products trade, but we need more time.

When Canada first ventured into the plastics industry we had to import virtually our entire requirement for raw plastics from the United States. These raw plastics included polypropylene, polystyrene and polyethylene. When I first spoke out on this problem in December 1973, Canada produced only a fraction of our needs for these raw plastics, and we did not produce any polypropylene at all. In 1973 we imported more than 70 million pounds of that particular plastic.

Our main problem is that raw plastics are a by-product of the petrochemical industry, and we in Canada do not have a petrochemical industry of any real consequence. So we lose on two counts. We lose the jobs which would be created by such an industry, and we lose the opportunity to manufacture our own needs in raw plastics. In short, Mr. Speaker, right now our plastics industry is at the mercy of countries that do have a petrochemical industry sufficient for their own needs and are also able to export the product.

We have been caught on a third count, Mr. Speaker. When the demand for plastic products began to skyrocket a few years ago, the cost of raw plastics also experienced a rise. In 1973 the cost to our manufacturers of U.S.-produced plastics rose by as much as 40 per cent, and it has continued to rise since that time. Here again, Mr. Speaker, we are trying to offset that by expanding our petrochemical industry, but it will be several years before it will come close to meeting our demands for plastic.

To give some idea of the importance of our plastic industry, Mr. Speaker, there are over 1,400 plastics processors in Canada, with plants in 125 federal ridings, and employing over 45,000 people. Capital investment in the plastics industry in Canada is in excess of $3 billion. Three billion more dollars are being invested which will double our processing capacity and create more than 25,000 high quality jobs.

It must not be overlooked, Mr. Speaker, that many other industries hiring many thousands of people depend to some extent on the plastics industry. These jobs, both the direct employment in the plastics industry and the indirect employment in other industries, are in grave peril unless Canada can convince our GATT partners that the tariffs must remain in place for the plastics trade at least for a few more years.

(Translation)

Mr. Bernard Loiselle [Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce]: Mr. Speaker, the government is very sensitive to the claims of the hon. member. However, certain specific details should be given with regard to the plastics industry. The plastic goods consumption in Canada covers a vast array of goods and materials, which follow fairly closely the trends registered in the United States.

Because it is not profitable to produce a large number of materials from plastics, and other products, consumption being limited, it is no wonder plastic imports can represent as much as 25 per cent of the Canadian demand. However, Canadian exports amount to about 10 per cent of the local consumption. The industry is at a disadvantage with regard to exports and the competition from imports, because there is an insufficient supply of plastics in Canada; in addition, the cost of components is high as tariffs apply to most of them; and finally, because of the limited production of each article as the demand is poor for most of those goods. Those problems could be solved largely by establishing important new plastics ring plants in Canada, by access to foreign markets, and by increased productivity through greater production.

The government is working in conjunction with the industry itself on those three points, precisely to find favourable solutions. As for the GATT negotiations, the numerous representations made by the industry and individual companies have contributed much by giving the government all the available information on the problems and the possibilities for the industry that could stem from multilateral trade negotiations.

However, it would be contrary to the public interest to divulge the details of the Canadian position at those negotiations.

Slap Shot

by Bill Davis

Well the Haliburton Huskies have got a job cut out for them now as they trail the series 3-2 and as this paper is going to press they are battling for survival at the Dysart arena and a win could force a sudden death seventh game in Lakefield on Thursday evening.

The Huskies inability to win in Lakefield definitely has to be a key factor in this series. On the other hand Lakefield would have to be confident knowing they have home ice advantage and maybe, just maybe to confident. Jim Gilliam the Lakefield goalie is also a key factor as he has probably played some of his best hockey in this series as he has frustrated the Huskies early in the games, and forced them to lose their composure.

The winner of this series will meet Wingham in the semi finals.

Hats off to the Minden juveniles and the bantams as both teams have advanced to the all Ontario Finals for the first time. The bantams will meet Langton in Langton this coming weekend. The juveniles on the other hand will play Lukin at home probably this coming weekend.

Our news editor Len Pizze, wrote in his article two weeks ago that hockey and the high priced salaries were not one of his preferences.

Len went on to say that he didn't like sports where players were paid outrageous salaries to entertain a passive public and he was referring to hockey and football. This article boils down to nothing more than priorities, and Len's priority is skiing. He went on to give you the big names in his activity and seemed a bit irritated that their accomplishments were in small print on the bottom of some page of the Globe and Mail. Len, as news editor, should realize that stories are rated as to the demand that the public has expressed by buying this or that particular paper. If the Globe and Mail ran a lead story on a Canada Cup series as opposed to a story on downhill skiing, you can bet your bottom dollar more papers would sell because of the Canada Cup series than a story on skiing, and this is what the newspaper business is all about.

Incidentally, I can't recall when a hockey player was suspended for showing the brand of hockey stick to a televised public, but only two years ago a member of the Canadian Olympic ski team was banished by the Olympic committee for displaying the brand of skis she was using. This incident was nothing more than politics which is predominant in international competition. I have no interest in skiing, but I don't use it as a whipping boy when I can't find the story of last night's NHL game in the Globe and Mail. That's how I see it anyhow.

Incidentally, as this paper is going to press Len and I are heading to Peterborough to take in the Oshawa Generals, Peterborough Petes game. Maybe, Len can be converted.

The goalie was left looking as the puck bends the net during action at the hockey tournament in Wilberforce Saturday.

Haliburton Tykes fared well last in Beaverton

The Haliburton tykes fared well last weekend at the Tyke tourney held in Beaverton.

After dropping the first game to Fenelon Falls 3-1 the Haliburton team ended up in a 1-1 tie after regulation time, which required a shoot-off to decide a winner. Dean Brownson scored the only goal of the game and also fired the winner by the Uxbridge goalie in the shoot off.

In the consolation final the Haliburton club came up against the host Beaverton club only to lose a close 6-4 decision to a more experienced Beaverton team. Haliburton scorers were Jason Smith, Brian Turner, Darren Byers and Dean Brownson.

Art Beatty rolls triple of 665

Art Beatty rolled a high triple of 665 with single games of 172, 197 and 296. Other high triples were Linda Morrison 617 (195, 243, 179); Flo Henderson 620 (274, 217, 129); Beaulah Cowen 619 (205, 207, 207); Harry Henderson 653 (238, 197, 218); Shirley Hamilton 604 (206, 234, 164).

Single games over 200 were Phyllis MacDuff 200; Nancy Stinson 213; Ev Stata 200, 200; Jack Henderson 201; Fran Woods 248; Ken Beatty 213; Norma Parish 215; Vi Cornish 201. Team standings are Hit & Mrs. 32; Rebel 24; Aces 24; Criers 24; Snowflakes 23; Harry's Angels 20.

Minden Juveniles march on to the Ontario OMHA finals

The Minden juveniles have advanced to the all Ontario O.M.H.A. finals by eliminating Havelock in seven games.

On Saturday evening Minden travelled to Havelock for the sixth game of the series, but had to settle for a 6-6 tie as Havelock scored twice in the last ten minutes of the game to tie it at five each. After ten minutes of overtime neither team had scored despite numerous chances.

Both teams gained a point, setting the stage for Sunday night's game in Minden.

Minden knew they wanted to win at home and the action was fast as the hometown kings poured it to the Havelock team and it finally paid off when Jerry Campbell put Minden into the lead which they were never to relinquish. At the end of two periods the Kings had built up a 5-2 lead and had complete control of the game, and only some decent goaltending by the Havelock goalie prevented the score from being higher.

In the third period Havelock players lost their composure as they sensed elimination and at every opportunity were running at the Minden players. The fact that the referees had control of the game probably prevented a full scale donnybrook. Minden displayed composure and the result was penalties galore for Havelock which enabled Minden to skate away with a 7-3 victory and the right to advance to the all Ontario finals.

Minden were led by three players with two goal performances, Terry O'Brien, Dave Brown and Brian Shaw. Minden got excellent goaltending from Mike Bird throughout the series and in the final game Minden stayed away from the costly penalties that had plagued them throughout this series.

Huskies find themselves behind the eight ball in finals

The Haliburton Travelways Huskies find themselves behind the eight ball in their league finals with the Lakefield Chiefs. In weekend action they won one and lost one to trail the series 3-2.

On Friday evening at the Dysart arena playing before one of the largest crowds to see a game in a few years, the local team squared the series at two each with an 8-5 victory.

Tim Bain opened the scoring at the 3:30 mark of the first period on a three way passing play from Tom Curry and Joe Roberts. It wasn't till 9:47 while Haliburton's Tim Oram was off serving a double minor, that Lakefield evened the score as Greg Tivey set up Steve Spencer, who beat Randy Ellison in the Huskie goal. At this point it seemed that both teams were playing it cautious to prevent a go ahead goal and at the end of the first period it was deadlocked at one each.

In the second period it was typical junior hockey with end to end rushes and at 4:29 Roberts put the Huskies in front as he was set up by Tim Oram. This lead lasted for three minutes and at 7:55, while Mike Scheffee was in the sin bin, Lakefield evened it once again. This time it was Randy Freeborn from Spencer.

The Huskies opened up a quick two goal lead once again. First it was Tom Curry from Roberts and Shaw then Andy Salvatori from Curry and Scheffee at 13:46 and it appeared that possibly the Huskies were on a romp, but Lakefield would not say die and finally Tivey scored unassisted as he appeared to catch the Huskies netminder napping. Barry Shaw came right back at 16:32 with an unassisted goal to give the Huskies a 5-3 lead at the end of two periods.

In the third period the Huskies added three more to Lakefield's one to walk away with a 8-5 win. The goal scorers in the third were Curry with two and Joe Roberts added the single. There were a total of 20 penalties handed out with the Huskies picking up 11 for a total of 24 minutes.

On Sunday in Lakefield it appeared to be the same old story as the Huskies were frustrated time and time again as the Hometown Chiefs scored two in the first, five in the second and two in the third as they dumped the Huskies 9-2 to gain a 3-2 series advantage and what possibly could be the decider in the series, the seventh game. The Huskies had had poor luck in Lakefield as the Chiefs appear to play a different and more aggressive game at home. 38 penalties were handed out with Haliburton picking up 18 for a total of 39 minutes. Lakefield picked up 20 for a total of 45 minutes. Haliburton goal scorers in this game were Jay Wooten and Chris Hodgson up from the Beaconbrook midgets.

Did you get Unemployment Insurance in 1977?

If so, you have probably received a tax information slip (T4U) in the mail.

If the slip hasn't arrived...

If you didn't get a T4U from us, go to your local post office. Pick up a postal reply card to apply for duplicates. Fill it in and mail it. You'll get your duplicate T4U in time to file your tax return.

If the slip has arrived...

If you did get a T4U but need a replacement for any reason, also use the postal reply card. Mark "replacement" on the card in the upper right hand corner.

If the slip has arrived but you need more information...

If you did get a T4U and still need an itemized statement, fill in the same card. You must write the total UI benefits you got in 1977 somewhere on the card.

This is important. It will help us get your statement to you in time. You'll find the total benefits figure in Box "B" of your T4U slip.

There was plenty of fast action around the net at the hockey tournament in Wilberforce Saturday. The tournament was held in conjunction with the Wilberforce Maple Syrup Festival, and drew large crowds to the new arena.

Dog control by-law passed

Anson Hindon and Minden dog owners who may have had trouble in the past keeping their dogs close to home were given a little more incentive to do so last Wednesday with the passing of a dog control by-law for the municipality.

Under the by-law, all dogs are prohibited from running at large in the three townships. Any dog found running loose can be seized by the by-law control officer. An owner whose dog is running at large is subject to a fine of not less than $5, plus costs, and may be fined as much as $50. If the offence occurs more than twice the option of paying a fine out of court is waived and the owner must appear before "a court of competent jurisdiction", the by-law says.

Impounded dogs will be taken to Woodland Ranch, and will be held for at least 72 hours, not including the day on which they were picked up. After three days, an unclaimed dog will be disposed of, and the cost of doing so will be paid by the municipality.

Together We Stand
The Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs will hold its annual general meeting and convention this year at Barrie in the heart of the progressive Huronia Snowmobile Association's area of operation. The event will be capably hosted by clubs of this group. Success is assured.

Earlier this winter the Central zone of the Huronia Association hosted the first ever Ontario trails demonstration and grooming seminar near Barrie. At that meet 120 trail masters and excutive officers of clubs and associations from far and wide assembled to watch and listen as grooming equipment in all sizes and types was demonstrated and carefully explained.

One thing that came out of that meeting was a universal recognition that much more can be accomplished by clubs working together as a group than can be accomplished when going it alone.

Regional associations of snowmobile clubs will continue to grow in this province. All individual clubs, unless they wish to operate strictly as social groups, should now be looking to the other clubs around them with the view of organizing such associations. The O.F.S.C. as well as Regional and District officials of the Ministry of Natural Resources strongly support the formation of such groups. For one thing, it is easier to deal with a central body than with many fragmented groups, for another, it is easier for a central body to present a strong case for its needs.

One regional association that does not yet exist but which would, I am sure, be welcomed both by the Ministry and the Federation is a South Algonquin Trails Association encompassing all snowmobile clubs from the Bobcaygeon area to No. 60 Highway. By my count, this should include at least twelve clubs now known to exist in the region. All it will take to make this a reality is a little organizational effort undertaken by one or two of the stronger clubs in the group. It is my prediction that it will happen. As a Director of the Federation my full support and assistance is pledged.

COUNTY ECHO FAMILY

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

Our congratulations and best wishes to Randy and Darlene Coleman who were married in a quiet ceremony in Toronto on March 4. Darlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robertson of Head Lake. Many of their friends and relations attended the wedding dance in their honor in the Coboconk Community Hall on Saturday, March 18. We wish a speedy recovery to Darlene's grandfather, Roy Robertson who has been ill. He is in the Women's College Hospital, Toronto and would, I'm sure, appreciate get well wishes from his friends.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late Willa Lagerer (Mrs. Albert) who passed away on March 22 at her home, R.R. 1, Norland. A memorial service was held on Friday, March 24 from the Haliburton Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis have returned to their home on the Government Dock road after spending several months of the winter in Florida. We are sorry that the weather hasn't co-operated and offered some warmer temperatures on your return and over the Easter holiday weekend.

The Norland Bowling Team standings as of March 22. There is only one week left in the third series of the Bowling and the standings are very close. E. Forsythe - 34 pts., J. Boyce - 32 pts., D. Boyce - 30 pts., K. Watson 26 pts., L. Jewell - 26 pts., and J. Maunder - 20 pts.

Ladies High Single and Triple - Nellie Cynoweth - 264; 568, High average, tied at 190 points, - Eileen Forsythe and Rotha Bryant. Men's high single - Adrian Lee - 263, High Triple - Don Lee - 681, and High average Doug Boyce 190 pts.

On Saturday, March 18, the winner of the Norland Volunteer Firemen's Hockey pool was John Magee.

With the bright sunshine and longer days, many are thinking of Spring cleaning time. Here are some tips that might help to speed your clean-up. Rid your closets and shelves of any unused items that you haven't used for a year. Anything that has not been used in that length of time, probably will not be used in the future either. Remember this when deciding about clothes, books, magazines, games, trinkets, kitchen gadgets, hardware and furniture. You will probably be pleasantly surprised at how much more space that you will have around the house afterwards. The Norland United Church Women will be having their Opportunity Shop once again this summer, so if you have any of the above items that you no longer require or need, do keep this in mind and drop articles off at post office or here at Norland Marine. Many thanks in advance.

Perhaps some of you are feeling like this little verse

With winter gone and Spring begun
My autumn work
is almost done.

Helpful Hint: The light line left on a pair of slack or jeans after the hem is lowered can be eliminated by rubbing it with a child's crayon in a matching colour, then ironing.

Paulette Blake, owner of Junk for Joy in Haliburton, had one of several booths at a flea market in Wilberforce Saturday. The market was one of several attractions at the second annual Maple Syrup Festival in Wilberforce.

Chatting with Irene

Everyone can settle down and draw a deep breath now, for all the hustle and bustle of the March break and Easter is behind us; and by the time the next holiday comes, let us hope the ground is bare and the planting done.

I have enjoyed going to the Rotary Bingo the past several weeks, especially last week when I won a turkey; this is the first time I have ever won at Bingo. One thing I did notice was that there were many non-smokers as there were smokers, and the air got rather thick at times until the overhead fan was turned on. I smoke myself, but it made me stop and think that maybe more people would go to the Bingo if there were some way to cut down on the smog, that gets in a room from smoking.

Good Friday visitors with Mrs. Ethel Harrison and the Wm. Moores were; Mrs. H. Devry and Sarah of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cade of Mississauga; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brownridge of Scarborough.

The winner of the 50-50 draw at the Hockey game was Lloyd Harrison.

Speaking of Hockey, it was quite a weekend. The Bantam Team won their game Saturday evening and will now meet Langton which is near Tillsonburg for the Finals. Saturday evening Minden and Havelock played to a tie so back to Minden they came Sunday evening for the final game. I for one sure am glad to see that series over, for the fans certainly have not been very polite, at any time. Minden won the series but everyone was very glad to see the OPP walk in for when the Havelock bus came and the fans bought their tickets they were even abusive to us in the booth. Even the referees who came from Oshawa were taking abuse, but once they saw the men in blue things were a bit quieter. Watch for the posters which will tell the team will play for the Ontario Championship; for right now we are not sure if it is Lucan or not. Just imagine, we have the Minor Hockey Teams right up there for the big one, so be sure and support them all you can, for it is many years since our teams got that far.

Calendar for the next several weeks include the following events; - April 2nd - the Figure Skating - "Cinderella"; April 3 - United Church U.C.W. Meeting; April 4 - Minden & District Horticultural Society meeting at Municipal Building, 7:30 p.m. Leroy Brown of Lindsay Guest Speaker, all welcome; April 5 - Library and Museum meeting at Minden Library, all welcome.

Co-operation is doing with a smile what you have to do anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bresna and Judy & David of Kapuskasing spent the school break with Mrs. Irene Stamp and the Bud Stamps.

Mr. & Mrs. J.A. Brydson and family spent Easter with the W. Moores.

We are very pleased to see the people of the County support the Hockey teams; Sunday there were also people who came from Peterborough just for that one game, not to mention those who were up at cottages and came in to see if the game was on then stayed for it.

The regular W.I. meeting was held at the Parish Hall on March 15 with 29 members and two guests. The president welcomed all, then the roll call was answered by who was your neighbour of 20 years ago. Mrs. Allen Taylor gave the treasurers report as well as the card report.

It was decided to choose the courses "Food for mature persons and Budget decorating" also to suggest that some of these Senior courses be held in the north end of our district so that our members may attend.

The Womens Institute drafted a letter to send supporting the others regarding the Hospital being as is with same services as now.

The bus trip was discussed and date May 31 settled on, but the place not settled as yet, this will be done at April meeting.

Mrs. Thelma Ewing district director gave account of district executive meeting. The district annual is to be in Fenelon Falls, May 25 with hostess group being Pleasant Valley.

The curator had the three Tweedsmuir Books on display and had a quiz on history and would appreciate any history you can give her.

The next meeting is on April 19 at 2 p.m., and all interested ladies are invited. The winner of the box of groceries was Neil Burke, #19. The proceeds of this draw went into the new Library Fund.

Mr. & Mrs. Bob Normile of Napanee and Mr. & Mrs. Paul Yearwood and family of Sudbury visited Mr. & Mrs. Cecil Yearwood over the holiday.

The Lady Fatima Church group held an Easter Draw; this was dinner for two at Mr. Fogg's and was won by Archie Bunker.

Cinnamon toast; take an old salt shaker and fill it with two teaspoons cinnamon and 5 tablespoons of icing sugar. Shake well, then when you make toast shake the mixture over it.

I wish to compliment three girls from Haliburton who on their way to a Hockey game, Sunday evening saw a fire on 121 and stopped. They had presence of mind to put out the fire by shovelling snow on it.

Adios and take care now.

Maple Lake News

by Ada Gibbs

My readers will have noticed that I've been playing hockey, so there has been no Maple Lake News for the past three weeks. Now that I'm at home again, I'll try to do better. It's very hard at times to have any news items worth mentioning if you folk don't give me a call 489-2249 and bring me up-to-date.

The regular meeting of the Stanhope Library Committee scheduled for March 1, which had to be cancelled will now be held Wednesday, March 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Library meeting room. Please try to attend if you are a committee member.

Welcome home to Violet Smith and her friend Muriel Bailey from a most interesting and informative holiday in Hawaii. While there they enjoyed Oahu and also did some island hopping to visit Kauai and Maui. They were quite impressed with the monument built in memory of all who lost their lives because of the attack on Pearl Harbour. They found Honolulu and the Waikiki area very commercialized.

The George Jones's are at home again after a seven week vacation in Florida. We are sorry to hear George hasn't been feeling up to par, which began during the latter part of the holiday and still isn't feeling great. Hurry up George and get back with the Tuesday Nite Combines in time for the play-offs.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dawson spent last weekend with Earl's parents - the Stewart Dawsons.

Mrs. Winnifred Johnson and friends from Peterborough made a hasty overnight visit to the homestead by the lake. Sorry we missed seeing you Winnie.

The bowling season, which is still in full swing, is nearing play-off time once again. I believe March 28 is the last game for the Combines, then three nights of play-offs. Team I missed Bruce Medcalf Jr., the last couple of weeks.

Too bad about the unexpected surgery again, Bruce. However, take it easy, it will pay off in the long run. We trust you'll be able to return sometime during the playoffs in April.

On Good Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yatsman drove to Kirkland Lake to spend the Easter weekend with son Gary and his wife Barb. Gary being a teacher has been enjoying the winter school break.

The Cyril Finch's are enjoying having their grandchildren with them for the school holiday.

Mr. & Mrs. Jim Harrison and the girls, took advantage of the holiday week to drive to Florida hoping to find some warmer weather. I hope they weren't disappointed, because everyone, one speaks to, reports unusual temperatures there this winter.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Elmer Harrison hasn't been well for some time and had to have surgery in Peterborough a short time ago. Just recently Ethel has gone to Toronto for further treatment. We wish you a successful recovery, Ethel.

Mrs. Ken Richards and 2 grandchildren of Lindsay visited one day last week with their Uncle Oscar Sisson and Isabelle.

My brother, Wilbert, and I visited for two weeks in the State of Delaware with our sister, Mrs. Phyllis Howarth. We found the weather there still wintry when we arrived, but by the time we left for home the grass was showing up green, and we saw both crocuses and snowdrops on the lawns. As Phyllis is just about 50 miles from Rehoboth Beach on the Atlantic, we took advantage of one beautiful day to spend some time at Rehoboth, where we enjoyed the ocean breezes, strolled along the boardwalk, then seated on one of the benches on the walk, watched a ship en route to a more northerly port, and also watched the tide come in.

We are glad to learn that Carrie Drysdale and her daughter-in-law Betty, Mrs. Cecil Morrison, got away March 15th on a trip to England, where they will be visiting relatives and friends. Carrie's friends are happy for her that she had the opportunity to make this visit, because it is something she has hoped to do for a long time.

With Alven Ferguson on the farm holiday weekend guests were his sister Mrs. John McKee (Phrona) David McKee, and Miss Meriel Smith.

The Good Friday 11 a.m. service in St. Peter's Anglican Church was well attended this year. Although not too many local families were able to be present, it was good to have quite a few of our usual summer visitors who attend.

Several folks are away on a southern holiday. Mr. & Mrs. Leo Hannivan and family are away on vacation. Grandma & Grandpa Ross Faulkner are keeping their grandchildren while parents John & Gwen Faulkner of Peterborough are on a holiday.

Charlie Weaver underwent surgery last week and is in Ross Memorial Hospital. George Callan is also in Ross Memorial Hospital. Bonnie Chynoweth's father, Roy Robertson of Uphill is in Women's College Hospital, Toronto.

Mrs. Rod Harrison & family of Queensville spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Annie Marles. Sheila Bowias & Jennifer Bowias spent last week in Toronto visiting.

Isn't it great to see the snow melting and running down the roads and sloped driveways? The robins are back and the groundhogs are out, even though there is still plenty of snow around.

Cathy Weaver flew home from British Columbia this week for a visit with the family.

Do hope everyone has a nice Easter. This is one of these times when news is scarce. I will report on the Lion's Club meeting and guests next week.

News from Extendicare

by Dr. O.W. Anderson

Monday was the first day of Spring, when it is presumed Winter has departed to the far south, or is it dormant till June. There are not too many signs of Spring yet, except to rapid lengthening of daily sunshine and greatly increased warmth in the rays of the sun. The mud of Park Street has pretty well come and gone, so that now we can walk along and not get splashed.

Toward evening we learned that Alvin Currah had taken sick and to the Haliburton Red Cross hospital. Our hopes are with him for a healthy recovery.

Tuesday holds promise of bingo in the afternoon and that means prizes and that means that two of our most faithful volunteer helpers will be with us to see fair play, Mrs. Dorothy Davidson and Mrs. Kel Anderson. Jake Gill was back doing the calling.

This is in the very middle of the income tax scramble when the Governments get themselves primed with more billions to carry on another year. The governments need it and they say we need to get rid of it. That is money we are referring to. With these fearful amounts of money knocking around we had a thought about the way to spend what they may call a little dribble. Haliburton is ringed around with substantial hill on which could be placed batteries of these new type efficient wind mills, each with an equivalent complement of solar cells in an effort to learn what power could be generated with a view of maybe going a little easy on the nuclear choice. At any rate do not say we did not mention it.

We were greeted Wednesday morning with the news, that Alvin Currah was dead, leaving behind Mary, a most devoted wife and now a widow. Such is life with all its sorrows. Alvin will be missed by all of us.

Calisthenics were held in the morning under the baton of Mrs. Barbara Fryer, and in the afternoon the ladies undertook, believe it or not, to fashion snakes as part of their sewing activities. At least a half dozen were made and they were very realistic. Another group of ladies made and decorated a big batch of easter eggs. First they made a batter of icing sugar, butter and sweet condensed milk and moulded it into egg shapes. They were then dipped in chocolate, then iced by expressing the icing out of a compressor onto the eggs. This latter process was in the supervision of Mrs. Marjorie Fedorchuk, Mrs. Eileen Morrison, Mrs. Lila Austin and Mrs. Jean McKnight. By the time they are served these eggs should be enjoyable.

Thursday was one of our big days when we joined with the Senior citizens of Haliburton in the Dysart Community Centre for a pot luck dinner. As usual it was enjoyable. Grace was said by Rev. Trevor Denny of St.

Georges Anglican Church who was accompanied by his wife and infant daughter Kara. Emil Neimann president and M.C. gave us a note of welcome then bid the whole assembly to help themselves. There was food in plentiful supply and all of it very tasty.

Good Friday came in quite bright with a full sun. In the morning as usual was our devotional period and the Easter sermon, the theme of which were the seven words of the cross which Rev. John Smith of Lakeside Baptist Church related to us explaining the meaning of each as he proceeded. This is not dealt with very often in this manner and we were much impressed. An extra feature was added to this divine service by a solo by Mrs. Gerane Bunyun, accompanied by the pastor's wife pianist Mrs. Velma Smith, and she also accompanied the service. At a reception after tea and cookies were served.

We were nearly omitting to welcome Leslie Grist another admission to our gang. He has been here before so he knows the routine.

We are in the midst of planting the flowers that will decorate this building. The early seed are up and all are transplanted into individual pots so there will be no need to disturb the roots when we plant them out. We have sizeable geraniums, coleus, pansies, cockscomb, ageratum, and petunia. Many plants we have or will have will give us bloom all year indoors in the Winter, so it should be a little different than before.

Despite our troubled economy it seems that we can still afford to have Canadians spending their wealth in foreign climates, knowing that it would seem that our economy is really in good shape, even though some of our economists argue otherwise. It is probable we will have a billion or so deficit in our tourism industry. Mr. Trudeau's speech in New York as leader of the Liberal party in Canada should help.

Kinsmen to hold car draw

Following last year's successful truck draw, the Kinsmen Club has decided to hold a car draw, with first prize being an American Motors Jeep, and second prize will be an American Motors Gremelin. There will be 2000 tickets at $10.00 each with the draw being held on September 2, 1978 Labor Day weekend.

Plans are now being finalized for the upcoming Junior Homeshow to be held on the June 16th weekend, with only a few booths left, any merchant who is interested in Cont'd. page 12

Gems of Truth

THE TRUE MEANING OF EASTER

It is to be regretted that this season of the year that commemorates the resurrection of the Lord Jesus should be called by a pagan name, Easter. That name is found only once in the New Testament and is translated "Passover" in some versions. Acts 12:4 The name itself is derived from "eastre", a Saxon goddess, whose festival was celebrated in the spring of the year. The two festivals, coming so closely together as they did, merged into one, with the name Easter being used. There are many people, even in so-called Christian lands who do not associate Easter with the resurrection of our Lord. There is so much activity woven around this day that stems from the pagan side of the name. The older people are conscious of clothes and display, and the younger people are thinking of pets, etc. In many instances very little remains of the true meaning of this day as concerns the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ and how it affects mankind.

In spite of the fact that there is unmistakable testimony to the bodily resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and that it was one of the cardinal doctrines of the early church, there are many so-called Bible teachers who deny and disbelieve this great Biblical truth. The result is much confusion in the minds of people and a great need for an intelligent understanding of the resurrection of Jesus and its effect on all mankind.

The proofs of our Lord's resurrection from the dead are many, very easily understood, and convincing. Luke tells us that "He shewed Himself alive after His passion (crucifixion) by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God. Acts 1:3. During those forty days Jesus appeared to His disciples many times in different places, and to groups of various size, at one time to five hundred brethren at once. 1 Cor. 15:4-9. It must be remembered that the world as such, His enemies and unbelievers, never saw Jesus in His resurrection body. Unlike present day enemies of the Gospel, the opposers to Jesus and His Deity did not deny the fact of His resurrection, but simply tried to threaten and intimidate the Apostles regarding speaking the truth concerning it. Acts 4:18, 5:28.

The true meaning of the "Resurrection" still evades many believers in Him and was a real live issue in the early Church. It is for this reason that the Apostle Paul deals so strongly with it in his letter to the Corinthians assembly. 1 Cor. 15:1-58. The whole chapter is devoted to the true outcome of the first fruit from among the dead. This chapter deals solely with the Christian aspect of the resurrection and has nothing in common with the unsaved. Their rising from the dead is not dealt with at this time, but is a separate event as foretold by Jesus and the Holy Spirit inspired writers of the Word. Jno. 5:28-29 Rev. 20:12-15.

The Lord's servant Paul, to whom was given the task of revealing hitherto unknown truth concerning the Church, begins his great treatise of the "Resurrection" with a specific introductory note. 1 Cor. 15:1-4. Upon this "base" the whole body of Church truth rests. The entire system of Christianity rises and falls with the belief or unbelief of this foundational truth. V. 12-34. Beginning at verse 35 Paul takes up and resolves the difficulties which the triumphant and glad song of "victory" over death, through the "victory" of our Lord Jesus Christ. verse 57.

One must be careful to note that this "victory" is attained to only as the Lord Jesus is seen by any individual as the Saviour who died on Calvary for his personal sins. Sin is the direct background cause for all death. 1 Cor. 15:21, 45. Upon that understanding and acceptance of that fact alone, can the Saviour become a personal saviour and victor over the death all people face. "He is risen" Mark 16:6, is God's pledge that all who trust in Him as a Saviour, and serve Him as a Master and Lord, shall be raised from the grave by the same power that brought our Lord in the triumph from the tomb! Death for a believer in Jesus finished work on Calvary, is but a "graduation" for those who possess a diploma which is signed by Jesus in the red ink of the Cross' service. The transfer from one "death day" to the other, begins at the great commencement day when faith takes hold of the true meaning of Easter. Cont'd next week

Legion sponsors Public Speaking

On Monday, March 13, about 75 friends and relatives came to the Legion Hall in Kinmount to hear children of the Kinmount Public School speak in competition on subjects of their own choice. Martin Byrne, the only junior grade contestant spoke on "Henry Hudson". Louise Pearson, winner in the Senior group, spoke on "A Problem". Louise, incidentally, was a first prize winner two years ago, as a Junior. Lynne Phillips, who came second, chose for her topic, "The Importance of Nutrition." The Third winner, Carrie Dettman, spoke on "Uganda". The chairman congratulated the winners and asked Dagmar Simpson and Irene Gardiner of the Ladies Auxiliary to present prizes. The Children's teachers and the judges were invited to come to the platform and be congratulated on their part in a successful evening. Martin Byrne and Louise Pearson elected to speak in the Zone Competition at Woodville Legion yesterday, and Louise came third in her class.

Galway-Cavendish Council

The clerk-treasurer was authorized to prepare a By-law under Section 7(a) of the Local Improvement Act, authorizing that the cost of relocating certain portions of the South Shore Crystal Lake Road that passes over private property be charged equally to all ratepayers on lots 29, 30, 31, 32, 34 and 35, Concession 9, 10 and 11.

Galway Cavendish Township will support an Association of Municipalities of Ontario resolution opposing Bell Canada's application to the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission for exorbitant increases in rate structure. The opposition is to be forwarded with a copy of the A.M.O.'s resolution to Bill Scott, M.P. Clark Rollins, M.P.P. the Prime Minister and the Premier of Ontario.

The resolution is as follows: "Whereas Bell Canada has filed an application with the C.R.T.C. for increases in rates of tariffs from those granted in June 1977, ranging from 20% to 30% and, in some instances, even higher increases; and

Whereas the proposed increases are far in excess of the anti-inflation guidelines; and

Whereas the granting of increases in excess of the guidelines not only impacts upon those least able to afford increases to their cost-of-living, but will have a serious and negative impact upon the agricultural, industrial and commercial sectors of this province, as well as increasing local government costs which, in turn, will be passed on to the taxpayers;

Therefore, the Association of Municipalities of Ontario wishes to record its objection to the magnitude of the increase proposed by Bell Canada, and urges the Provincial and Federal Governments to take the strongest action possible in order to insure that any rate increase granted to Bell Canada is completely justifiable both in terms of the present economic climate and the anti-inflation guidelines.
